

A Note to Remember
by
Becca Genecov

All through my life, I have loved to perform by dancing, singing, acting, and making people laugh. When I look back at my years here, I see how Levine has been instrumental in helping me compose my own song. I am about to leave this song behind and begin composing a new one, in a new school with new people; my song will change but I will always have the tune of Levine with me.

As I move to an Episcopal school, the lyrics will change, but I will always have the background music of Judaism ringing softly in my ears. The Ethical Covenant that I heard and listened to over and over will frequently be playing in my mind. I will continue to strive to be holy, ethical, respectful, and responsible to myself and to others around me. I will sing of social justice by continuing to volunteer and participate in community projects. I will never forget the values and the people who have made a difference in my life.

Along with my Jewish values, I will often hear the melodic voices of my teachers that have helped me succeed academically...I would like to thank my friends for being there for me whenever I need them. We have been through so much together and I will never forget you.

As my new song is about to be written at ESD, I will never let go of the old tune. Levine will always be a note to remember.
